I shall therefore refrain from proposing the vote until a reasonable opportunity has been forded to every member of this Colony to consider the despatch. It was not the custom to take the third reading so quickly. His Excellency-The Colonial Secretary has stated that the cemeteries are not within the jurisdiction of the Sanitary Board, and I do not see the objection to the Bill. At the same time, in case there may be some mistake, I have no objection to postpone the third reading to next meeting. The Council adjourned to this day week.

INCREASE OF THE MILITARY CONTRIBUTION. DISPATOR FROM THE SECRETARY OF STATE: Hongkong.

Downing Street,

20th January 1899. Sir .- Referring to previous - correspondence respecting the fortifications recently crocked at Hongkong and their armament; I have now the honour to address you on the subject of the additional garrison required by those fortifications and on the incidence of its cost : matters to which lies Majesty's Government have given most auxious and careful consideration. 2. You are aware that in 1884 it was at ranged that the Colony should construct the works, and that the Imperial Government should provide the armament, of the proposed defences. The cost was then estimided as fellows :-

5. The gatrison in 1863.4 was estimated waters. at 1,000 of all ranks, and its annual cost at 100 000%. In 1888 the g trison numbered 1,445 of all ranks (exclusive of volunteers) and its cost has risen to about 160,000k. year, while the Colonial contribut on has remained at 20,5 COl.

6. The future garrison, including locregulars, but excluding militia and volum teers, will be approximately as follows :--Imperial troops, 2,525 of all rapls.

Local regulars, 493 The details are given in the Table A, an-nexed to this despueb. 7. The cost of this garrison will be about 280,000% a year and will consequent ly be nearly three times as great as was the expense of the garrison in 1863 when the Colonial contribution was fixed. Her Majesty's Government, however, do not propose that the contribution should now be increased in the some proportion, and will only call upon the Colony to provide 40,0:01. a year for each of the three years 1890-1-2 the Colony bearing in addition the cost of any militia and volunteers which it may raise, and the contribution to be paid after 1892 being subject to re-conside-

The population, which was shown by the census of 1:81 to bo .160,402, is now estimated at not less than 215,000.

11, It is evident that the prosperity, may almost say the existence; of the Colony, and the welfare of this large population, depend upon the continuance and security of its trade with other places. If the trade is secure, the prosperity may be expected to continue and increase, and the first instincts of selfinterest would lead the community to make every effort to protect and defend their

12. The present defences of Hong Kong, with their powerful armament, will autlice, in the opinion of Her Majesty's professional advisers, to afford the necessary protection against any attack likely to be made upon it : but I need scarcely remind you that another and more powerful safeguard is prvided by the ships of Her Majesty's navy, whose duty would be to prevent any hostile force from approaching the place, and in whose absence alone would any attack apon it become possible. The combination of the two forms of defence will, it may be hoped, effectually secure the safety of the trade of the Colony, and of the population which lives and thrives upon it.

to them. At the same time the changed conditions of warfare, and the sudden and rapid mature of the opening operations, ward the necessary votes by all the means have made it necessary for Hongkong, like other important Colonial ports, to be always ready to repel an attack in case of the absence of the fleet, and to have its garrison permanently at full strongth, and not dependent upon the doubtful possibility of receiving reinforcements on the outbreak of

14. It will doubtless be urged, as has been urged before, that the defence of Colonial ports is a matter of Imperial concern, and that the maintenance of their garrisons should be mainly horns by the taxpayers of the United Kingdom. Her Majesty's Government have, however, never admitted, and cannot now admit, this plea. Selfpreservation is the first law of nature, and if the capture of Hougkong, would be a acricus blow to the Empire, the capture w uld mean rain to many inhabitants of the Colony, and serious less and hardship to all. . Hougkong, in common with every other British possession, is directly benefit ted by its connection with the rest of the Empire, and, while enjoying the benefits cannot escape from the responsibilities, cutailed by that connexion. The larger dependencies, such as the Australian Colonies, accept their respons bilities without demar, and not only provide the whole of their hand defence, but contribute to the coat of the navy is order-to-strengthen the aguadron, and obtain more complete pro-Revenues, as against 60 per cent. to tection for their shipping and floating trade. 15. 20. A separate correspondence is proceeding with respect to the details of the additional barracks which will be required for the increased garrison, and I do not propose to touch upon these details; but I will atate the reasons which influenced Her Majesty's Government in determining that a portion of the coat of their construction should be borne by the Colony.

21. Four different heads of expenditure were required in 1884-5 for putting the Colony into a proper state of defence, viz -1. Forts. 2. Armaments. 3. Submarine defences. 4. Barracks for additional troops. It was determined in the special agreement of that year, that the Colony should provide the works, and the Imperial Government the armaments, the estimated expenditure being-

55,625 Armaments . . . .

22. This estimate, as I have stated above, has, however, grown into an expenditure of 325,4271., of which 209,4271. or nearly two thirds, will have been borne by the Imperial Exchequer, and if Her Majesty's Government now call upon the Colony to make a fair contribution towards the new barracks, it cannot complain of unfair treatment, especially as the addi tional barracks are in fact a necessary part of the defencer.

23. It must be added that if, in the course of the three years, necessity for any new defence works affould arise, their cost would form the subject of a separate agreement, and that it is not to be understood that the whole charge of them would be borns by the Imperial Exchequer.

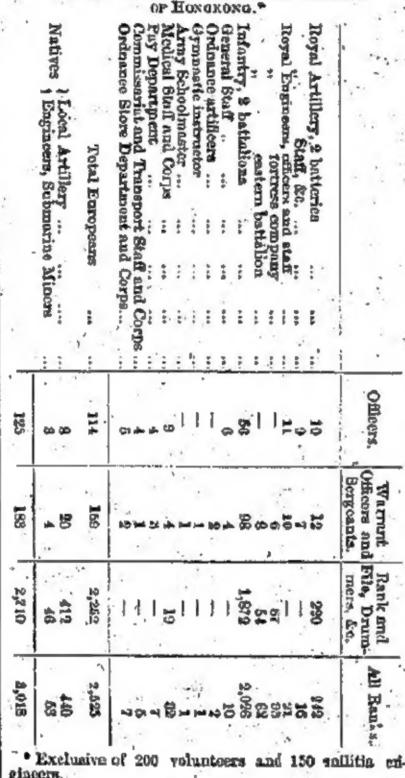

24. In the confident hope that the present arrangement, which they consider 13. Now that Mr Chadwick's Report on the Peak Drainage is out, it is interesting to compare it with the statement made some months ago on behalf of the Peak residents by Mr Leigh. The two reports coincide in many respects, as will be seen from the parallel extracts given below, thus showing that the grievan es of the residents were well founded :-

THE HONGKONG GENERAL CHAM BER OF COMMERCE.

The following is the report of the Committee of the Hongkong General Chamber of Commerce, for the year ending 31st December, 1889, for presentation to the M mbers at the Annual Meeting, to be held on Thursday, the 20th March, 1890 :-

The Secretary of State for the Colonie has invited the assistance of merchants and others to take voluntary action for the ournose of stopping unnecessary labour in the harbour on Sundays. The question of telegraphic communication with Singapore has again been submitted to the Chamber, and though the suggested connecting of a Cab'e with British North Borneo has somewhat changed the aspect of affairs the Committee saw no reason to alter the opinions already expressed which deprecated any appropriation of Colonia funds in support of a project the expense of which they considered ought to devolve
